

TWIST and shout

TWIST sponges bring eco-savviness to your kitchen sink. They're made with natural, renewable resources and are biodegradable. The cellulose that goes into making the sponges hails from renewable tree farms in Norway and nearly 100 percent of the waste that comes from their manufacturing gets reused. TWIST sponges come in two styles. Loofah features one side for scrubbing, one side for absorbency and retails at $6 for a package of two. Euro is a cellulose sponge that fits in your hand for everyday cleaning and sells for $3. Visit www.twistclean.com to purchase.
